Subject: news article about Sheboygan ozone

Jackie – FYI. This article, I think, is an op-ed. It is written by Jake Curtis is an associate counsel at the Wisconsin Institute for Law & Liberty's Center for Competitive Federalism and Lucas Vebber, general counsel and director of environmental and energy policy at Wisconsin Manufacturers & Commerce.

The article focuses more on the NAAQS world, but does state, “.....for nearly 20 years, the federal Environmental Protection Agency has allowed a poorly placed compliance monitor to unfairly hold Sheboygan County accountable for pollution that is generated elsewhere.”.
